A Shared Space Reminder...

We are very lucky to have a space that is just ours. Although it is not the prettiest penny, the locker room is a privilege and needs to be treated as such. PLEASE make sure when you use the bathrooms that the toilet paper is making it into the toilet and the paper towels are making it into the receptacle. Also please remember that you are not the only person using these bathrooms...If you put the toilet seat up, it is also your responsibility to put it back down 😊 if the trash is full, please take it out. If you do not know where to take it out, please ask.

Changing Seasons- Andy James

Spring is almost here
Soon spring will be sprung
End of the season is looming
Do any of us still feel young?
Hard work and lots of coffee
Somehow we made it go
Hiking up with no carpet
In the zone of the flow
The white stuff will melt
As the sun climbs up high
After the rivers run full
Our water returns to the sky
