

Winter 23' -24' | Issue 3 | Oct. 27, 2023

It's official, we got our first snow in the base area!

It's not quite deep enough to get any turns in but it is starting to feel like winter around here.

Leadership Update — Meet our Newest Supervisor

One big update this season; we have added a Supervisor position to our team! You'll hear more of the "why" during indoor training and, we didn't want to waste any time in announcing Maddie Egaas, our Youth Programs Supervisor!

Maddie joined our team last year as a full time instructor. She earned herself a L1 alpine cert. while also establishing herself as a professional "Kitten Herder". It's no surprise she took this award home at the end of the year; in addition to her on-snow work, Maddie was also a personal nanny. Outside of working with kids, Maddie has experience with event management; training and leading a team through her Lead role at a Winery.

Fun facts about Maddie: She grew up in Washington, has two sisters (both of whom are on the team this season) and, in her spare time, enjoys hiking and climbing.

Please help me congratulate Maddie in this new role!

And for those that might be curious, Jeanine is still here, taking on a new challenge herself...more to come in next weeks Word.

Legion and Workforce Management

Have you seen communication around this yet? Curious as to what it is?

As an enterprise, we are employing a new tool to help with scheduling, shift coverage and employee communication. In our dept., we will roll this out , in full, to our carpet and support staff members first. Instructor staff, on the other had, will continue to use Instructor.Snow to view their schedules this season. They will have the opportunity to use Legion to pick up shifts in other depts.

More to come on how this works and, what it means for you. Of course, any questions now can be sent to SpSchoolStaff@vailresorts.com.
