

It's never too early to start planning your choreography for those snow dances... unless, of course, you haven't already refined it into an art form through time-honored tradition.

Although the equinox is still a few days out, fall is certainly in the air here at Stevens. Hiring is ramping up, and the Pass is beginning to buzz with thoughts of winter. While we're all hoping for an amazing season ahead, there are a couple things you can do now to help everything get off to a smooth start.

Please remember to review and sign your offer letter as soon as possible. Completing your offer letter is a critical first step in the hiring process, allowing us to begin your pre-boarding activities and helping ensure a seamless onboarding experience this winter. So keep an eye on your inbox for emails from Vail Resorts and PeopleConnect, some of these emails may require timely responses to keep your hiring process moving forward.

We can't wait to welcome everyone back for another great season at Stevens Pass!

CONGRATULATIONS MARTIN!

We are proud to recognize our very own SRS team member, Martin Greenberg, for being selected as a Vail Resorts Epic Service Ambassador, the highest level of employee recognition across the company. This prestigious honor celebrates team members who exemplify service-based leadership and go above and beyond to create exceptional experiences for guests and fellow employees. Martin's dedication, professionalism, and positive impact make this recognition incredibly well deserved. Please join us in congratulating Martin on this outstanding achievement and for representing Stevens Pass and the Snowsports team with excellence.
